

St._Petersburg

Another option is to get to Ploshad Pobedy (?????? ????). The nearest metro station is Moskovskaya. It's the beginning of the road to Moscow (Moskovskoye Shosse), pretty easy to catch direct rides to the capital here. A sign saying Moscow might be useful.

Southwest towards Tallinn

Take the Metro to the station of Prospekt Veteranov (???????? ?????????), Go out of the station and walk on the street carrying the same name towards west, when you get to Prospekt Marshala Zhukova street (???????? ?????????) cross the road and turn left. There's a bus stop and a lot of space for cars to pull over, and there's traffic jams very often, so you shouldn't wait too long. This road will take you to the M-11, going all the way to the Estonian border. If walking is too long for you (3.7 km), There must be a bus going there as well, please add the information if you know one.
